Renewed appeal to get railway into Haverhill

AS the prospect of thousands of new homes in Haverhill gets ever closer, a campaign group is rekindling its fight to bring a railway to the town.

The group, Rail Haverhill, decided to redouble their efforts at a meeting at the town's Arts Centre on Monday.

They are renewing their appeal for group members and petition signatures, and plan to present their case at a Cambridge City Deal assembly meeting.

The backdrop for their decisions was the approval by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet of the Great Wilsey Park masterplan last Tuesday.

The masterplan proposes a development of around 2,500 homes in the north-east of Haverhill – the biggest expansion of the town since the 1970s.

When the masterplan was brought before the borough council's Sustainable Development Working Party on September 3, councillors raised concerns about the ability of the town's infrastructure to cope with the influx of people. These concerns were echoed at the Rail Haverhill meeting.

Cllr John Burns said on Monday: "We need a strategic transport policy."

"We've got 4,000 houses being built. We need to be able to concern ourselves with how an 8,000 extra people are going to commute in and out."

Heike Sowa, chair of Rail Haverhill, added: "Most people who live in Haverhill go into the area of Cambridge – not necessarily the city itself but definitely the region and the big employment areas like Granta Park."

Rail Haverhill is calling for a commuter train from Haverhill into Cambridge that stops off at key employment areas.

The route would run from West Suffolk through South Cambridgeshire.

West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock said afterwards: "Haverhill is a growing town and needs better transport. That means both road and rail. The need to upgrade the A1307 is urgent, and in time I'd like to see a rail link too."

South Cambridgeshire MP Lucy Frazer added: "A number of people have raised the idea of the rail link with me to improve transport in the region. I think it is important to consider all of the options carefully, including this one."

"I will be working with the relevant organisations in the area assessing all options to secure the best deal for the residents."

Haverhill has not had a railway since 1967, when the Cambridge to Sudbury British Rail line was shut.

At Monday's meeting, the group organised a number of events to raise awareness of their campaign.

They will be holding stalls on Haverhill's Market Square on Saturday, November 7 and Friday, December 4.

They are also planning to present their case at a meeting of the assembly of the Greater Cambridge City Deal, which aims to improve employment, housing and transport prospects in Cambridge City and South Cambridgeshire.

The City Deal already has £39 million earmarked for the improvement of the "A1307 corridor" between Cambridge and Haverhill.

Record-breaking readers get awards

A CERTIFICATE presentation took place on Sunday after a record-breaking year for Haverhill Library's summer reading challenge.

Over 470 children signed up for this year's challenge, and over 300 completed it, reading six books each.

The presentation was attended by 210 children and their families, who picked up certificates and medals.

The awards were presented in the library by Mayor of Haverhill Betty McLatchy and Kate Ashton, assistant manager of the library. In the adjacent community room, county councillor Julian Flood and library manager Sanphra Willmott presented a further set of awards.

The reading challenge was made possible by 18 volunteers, six of whom were young volunteers aged 12 to 24.

Charity walk for hospice raises £160k

MORE than 30 Haverhill women have raised thousands for charity by taking on either a 6-mile or an 11.2-mile night-time walk.

The St Nicholas Hospice Care Girls' Night Out in Bury St Edmunds took place on Saturday. It was attended by 1,800 women and raised over £160,000 for the hospice. The women donned pyjamas and flashing bunny ears for the event, and could share their memories of loved ones on "memory boards" provided.

Elaine McManus, a former mayor of Haverhill, was walking as part of a group of 27 women.

She said: "You think for the last couple of miles 'Am I going to make it?', but it's a wonderful atmosphere. You're walking on a buzz. It's unbelievable all the organisation.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

"It's just like a sea of flashing bunny ears."

Elaine was walking in memory of her husband Paul who passed away from cancer earlier this year. The hospice provided advice and support to the couple during Paul's illness.

She said: "I think he would have been very proud of me. It was quite emotional on the evening because we all had postcards to put on the memory boards and when we got to St Nicholas Hospice there were all these people hanging out the window waving at us, and you could see that they weren't very well. I think many a tear was shed."

Elaine thanked Three Counties Transport, who drove her team to and from the walk free of charge.

Another Haverhill walker was Amanda Williams, walking with three family members - Sue Elliott and Laura and Sophie Allen - in memory of their father and grandfather Eric Albert Allen, who they called Charlie.

Amanda said on the night: "We're excited to be here. I can't believe the walk is finally here. We definitely want to do it again next year, we know that already."

"I look forward to being able to write on the memory board and show people how much we miss my Granddad. We want to make him proud of us."

Other walkers from Haverhill included Loraine Callow and her sister Christine Keith, whose mother was looked after by the hospice in her final week.

All the fun of the fete as village event raises £3,000

AROUND 300 people turned out to enjoy food and drink, traditional stalls and entertainment at the Withersfield Village Fete on Saturday.

The event raised £3,000 for St Mary's church in Withersfield and featured activities including morris dancing, a crockery smash and traditional cream tea and Pimms.

Over £700 was raised from the raffle alone, which featured as first prize a mountain bike donated by Coca Cola, as well as a hi-fi donated by Chapman's.

Organiser Sheila Tibbenham said: "We had 300 people come through the gate, which is good."

"The sun shone and the morris men were great - we had dancing down the road. The youth silver band were excellent, and we had support from St John's Ambulance."

A brand new marquee bought with funding from St Edmundsbury Borough Council also made its debut at the fete

After the fete, residents visited the newly-refurbished White Horse pub in Withersfield, which has only just opened to the general public.

Plans are already under way for next year's event.

COURT Man admits fraudulent attempt to get tenancy

A HAVERHILL man has admitted fraudulently attempting to take over his mother's social housing tenancy after she died.

Laurence Gray, 66, of Beaumont Court in Haverhill, pleaded guilty to one charge under the Fraud Act at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court last Thursday, September 10.

He admitted providing false information to Havebury Housing Association in an attempt to take on the tenancy of his late mother and inherit the maximum right-to-buy discount.

Gray was given a 12-month community order which will include 200 hours of unpaid work.

He was also ordered by the court to pay costs to the sum of £575.

Anita Jones, head of housing at Havebury Housing Partnership, said: "We take tenancy fraud very seriously and are very pleased with the outcome of this hearing."

"In working closely with Anglian Revenues Partnership, this case sends out a strong message that tenancy fraud is unacceptable and we will take action to tackle it."

Church bid to raise a million

A CHURCH is trying to raise over £1 million to convert their buildings - and you can help by supporting a concert.

The Old Independent Church in Haverhill's Hamlet Road is starting to fundraise after planning permission was granted in February to turn the church hall into flats.

The hall is still currently in use, and plans are in place to create a new community space in the current church building before it is put up for sale.

Church secretary Linda Mynott said: "We have two very large Grade 2 listed buildings. We've got a membership of around 40 and we have the upkeep of the buildings."

"We've had to make a decision about whether we want to go with one building or two. At the moment we have had planning permission agreed but we haven't got any further."

"We obviously have our own plans. We would like to free up some space in the back of the main church that would be our social space if and when we lose the hall."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

As well as the congregation, the church has a Girls Brigade, junior church, and is the base for the town pastors.

The site also plays host to groups such as the Brownies, the Diabetic Society, and the Suffolk Family History Group. It also hosts children's activities and concerts put on by the Haverhill Silver Band and Haverhill Operatic Society.

Ms Mynott said: "We have been in the town for an awfully long time, and that's why we want to do the work and keep going. We want to keep going as a place for the community."

To make all the changes they want to make, the church needs more than £1 million, and so they are beginning a series of fundraising events.

The first of these will be a concert on September 26 featuring around 50 choral singers from the local area. It will be conducted by Stephen Bell, associate conductor of the Halle Orchestra and artistic director of the City of Oxford Orchestra, and will also feature a professional soprano, baritone and organist.

"He's a very well renowned conductor and we've got a nice number of singers from the local area," said Ms Mynott.

The next fundraising event after the concert will be the church's Christmas bazaar, which will take place in December.

The concert will take place at the Old Independent Church at 7pm on Saturday, September 26, and tickets are £5 on the door.

For more information or to get involved in fundraising or donate, call Linda Mynott at the church on 01440 702 778.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Appeal after thieves take tools from shop

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after two people stole a power inverter and a pressure washer from Halfords in Haverhill's Cambridge Road retail park.

The incident took place at around 2.50pm on Monday, September 7, when a Karcher pressure washer worth £90 and a power inverter worth £80 were stolen.

One of the suspects is a 6ft tall skinhead man in his 20s, who was wearing blue jeans, a blue jacket and white trainers.

The other suspect was a woman in her 20s around 5ft 5in tall with long blonde hair. She was wearing blue jeans, a blue bomber jacket and white trainers.

The woman picked up the inverter in the shop and put it in her bag, while the man wandered around the shop. The woman then returned to take the pressure washer. Police think it is likely that the man was acting as a lookout.

If you know these people, or saw or heard anything suspicious at the time, contact Haverhill police on 101 quoting crime reference number HH/15/2301, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

POLITICS

Corbyn's policies 'a threat to our economy', says MP

LOCAL MP Matthew Hancock has described Jeremy Corbyn as "a threat" to West Suffolk families following his landslide victory in the Labour leadership election – but Haverhill has seen a surge in Labour membership during the campaign.

Mr Corbyn won 59.5 per cent of the first choice votes in the election, a total of 251,417 individual ballot papers.

MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock said: "This rehash of Labour's old ideas are a threat to the economic security of every family in West Suffolk."

"Whether it's printing money to fund more spending, rejecting the need to tackle the deficit, or saying the last Labour government didn't spend and borrow enough, each one of these would put our economy at risk. Together they'd be a disaster."

In contrast, the Haverhill and Kedington Labour Group are positive about the new party leader – although they have reservations about his stance on Europe.

Secretary of the group Roger Andre said: "We welcome the re-launch of Labour principles and we are particularly pleased that he appeals to young people.

HANNAH MIRSKY
HannahMirskyCN

"But we are going to make it clear that we oppose an exit from the EU. We are confident that he is more likely to listen to the foot-soldiers."

The rise in Labour membership across the country sparked by the leadership election has been reflected in Haverhill.

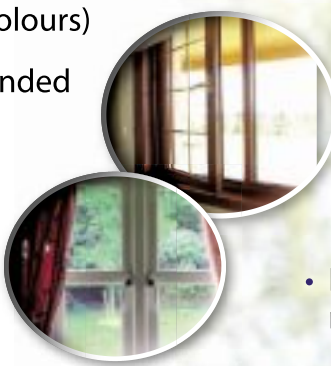

Mr Andre said that the local Labour group now has 99 full members, a number which this time last year was 49. It has 74 registered and affiliated supporters, when a year ago this number was "in single figures".

UKIP county councillor and former parliamentary candidate Julian Flood, however, raised concerns about Corbyn's policies.

He said: "He may not be a fool, but he believes foolish things. Until he grows up, abandons student politics, throws away his Lenin cap and faces the world as an adult, he will do much damage to his party and our country."

CHARITY

Happy tenth birthday to REACH!

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A CHARITY dedicated to pulling local people out of poverty celebrated its tenth birthday last night.

REACH Community Projects, based on the Clements Estate, was set up ten years ago to provide debt counselling, but over the years it has expanded.

Over the last year, it had provided a money advice project, a food bank and a furniture bank. They have also provided an online aid resource called ACTS 435, and "starter packs" including bedding and kitchenware.

At the birthday celebration last night, over 60 members of the REACH team, including staff and volunteers, were treated to music, talks and nibbles.

They heard the stories of a number of the people REACH has helped, including Ann Merrigan, now the charity's operations manager. She explained the difficult situation she was in when she got in touch with reach, then called Christians Against Poverty (CAP): "I was working. My husband had had to stop working through ill health, and we were finding it difficult to manage."

"I heard about CAP and I thought: 'Wow, this is amazing.'"

The audience also heard from guest speaker Matt Bird of the Cinnamon Network, which champions Christian charity projects.

He spoke about the need to create a society in which people take responsibility for each other and care about relationships, not just projects.

Henry Wilson, founder of REACH, said about the evening: "I'm just blown away; I work in a little office, and to see so many people, to see everyone that's involved, is just amazing."

Over the summer, to celebrate their 10th anniversary, members of the REACH community have completed fundraising challenges including the Castle Camps cycle ride (pictured) the Great East Swim, and a team of three even climbed a Swiss Alp called the Breithorn. They raised £2,000 for the charity.

And REACH is already planning for the future. Henry says they are hoping to work with an organisation called Hope into Action to provide housing and support to vulnerable adults.

Since the River of Life Church, which REACH are partnered with, has taken over the Chalkstone Community Centre, they are also hoping to do some work from there, so that residents on the Chalkstone Estate do not have to travel to the Clements Estate for support.

To find out more about REACH, visit www.reach-haverhill.org.uk.

Charges could create problems

WHILST a blanket Brown Bin charge of £50 a year may seem reasonable to the council it would be unfair to assume that all gardens generate the same amount of waste.

Those with postage-stamp sized gardens would be rightly miffed that others with 200 feet of lawn and shrubs get better value for money. It would be more fair to have 3 bands, for example, £25 for small gardens; £50 for medium and £75 for large, but that would cost more to implement.

Imposing a charge at all has its own drawbacks. There may be an increase in the dumping of garden waste, which the council then has to clear, and more of those with small gardens may decide to completely pave over it, which has the effect of reducing the ground's ability to absorb heavy rainfall and makes areas more prone to flooding.

D Penman
Winthfield Road
Haverhill

It wasn't free!

I REFER to your article on the front page of the Haverhill News (September 10th) in which you report, quote: Cllr Peter Stevens, cabinet member responsible for waste management, said: "We feel that although residents have enjoyed the service for free, budget constraints have forced us to make an unpopular decision".

I am personally prepared to pay the additional charge, but am incensed that Cllr Stevens has used the word "free" – what do we pay Council Tax for?

It is my understanding that the average property in Haverhill already pays a higher rate per household than that in Bury St Edmunds, and I feel sure there will be many residents in Haverhill who are unable to afford the increase, so if this goes ahead expect to see an increase in fly-tipping.

B.Asbey
Hanchett End
Haverhill

No, I won't pay

PLEASE don't let anyone be fooled into thinking that garden waste collection is a free-of-charge service provided by the ever bountiful FHDC; the bespoke collection trucks used were not free, the teams working with the trucks require salaries, the brown wheelie bins don't make themselves for nothing; everything has a cost and it has to be included in the council tax. Any reduction in service represents a cost saving for the council, whether passed on or otherwise shared or not with council tax payers/the electorate. Your article will have been awaited by many tax payers as miscellaneous pieces of associated information have been going around for about two months.

The cabinet member for waste management knows people won't like being charged twice for this service but has, nevertheless reluctantly taken the decision to go ahead with charges of between £35 and £50 bands... presumably there will be a sliding scale of bands for every so many square metres of garden for every council tax paying building (including office blocks?).

Every garden should have to be measured by council officials, how much will that cost?

Well, I do not want to pay anything at all for the following reasons:

■ I do not have a lawn or any 'intentional' grass growing on my premises

■ I have used my brown bin twice in approx 4.5 years at my address.

■ The small patio at the back of my home measures 5m x 3.5m and is given over to slabs, plants in pots + a table & chairs, no rolling acres.

■ I admit to trimming ivy over half of this enormous perimeter approximately 3 times every 2 years and can quite responsibly dispose of the cuttings myself

■ I would resent paying even the proposed minimum of £35 per 17.5 square metres of garden per annum if gardeners with, say 1 hectare/2.5 acres of grass cuttings, rosebush prunings, weed removals, etc., are paying only £50 per 10,000 square metres or £0.0875 per 17.5m2 per annum.

Environmental and recycling matters are not straightforward and need to be considered objectively in order to practically meet objectives; in this context, I would contend that 50% to 75% of all previous brown bin users would just put all their garden refuse in the black bin.

But, in the context of efficient re-use of the non-compost destiny of garden waste, what would necessarily be wrong with that; it would provide cake-like shape or backbone for the rest of general waste, making it easier to handle and transport to cement works where it can feed the kilns at a lower cost than many other first-use mineral fuels... with probably a reduced pollution output, think herby-smelling bonfires.

All our local councils need to think ahead of "home-composting as part of any programme of change". If they are collecting the waste and doing something with it, where does home composting come into this equation? If they perfect this operation, will they be deluged with enormous tonnages of finished product compost that is vastly in excess of the most optimistic usage requirements; could it ever be registered for use in growing legally saleable food?

Years ago there was a movement to recycle waste plastic, very well supported and much free waste supplied, the technology ended up confining usage to producing plastic crates for bottles, for dairies and the rest of the bottled drinks industry. Then economies of scale were required in order to be viable; the resultant masterplan showed that, for example, one month's production would produce enough plastic crates for the industries concerned, to last them about 10 years; this is not precise data but is broadly correct, could this happen to cottage production of council compost? All this brown bin collection stuff could fall by the wayside and subscribers would need to be compensated. In short, FHDC would be well advised to drop this daft hot potato.

Where to park?

THE plans for the new Haverhill centre look great, my only concern is parking.

I live close by at Eden Road which is permit parking.

Parking is a nightmare and we use the car park near by as an overspill (agreed by council) if the parking is reduced we will not have anywhere to park.

Carly Ford
Haverhill

A town fit for...

STARTING at the beginning, the early 1950s saw Haverhill dying a slow painful death.

By the mid 50s through to the early 60s Haverhill became an overspill town. The chances of this patient's recovery are very good.

We have the space to build new estates including industrial. The roads, well, they need to improve, I'm sure they will given time, and of course we still have the railway. Things are looking good for this patient – I think a full recovery is possible. Then 1967 rail closure, massive heart DEAD.

If the phoenix can rise from the ashes it's taking a long time to find its wings and fly.

Since 1967 Haverhill has built lots of houses and not much else, right up to date now. The Research Park – as of yet nobody in the units. Will they ever get anyone, or will that be just houses? We shall see.

Then of course we have the town centre. Little has changed since I arrived on that cold day back in October 1963. True there were more shops back then, but it felt like a proper small market town that can only get better through the passage of time. Well, 52 years later the shape hasn't changed. Shop fronts have and that's it. Queen Street – I'll leave it up to you to make up your own mind about that.

The way forward is to build on what we have that is modern, where the cinema is. Everything across the road needs pulling down. Demolish it all, including Gurtene's, then we won't be arguing about Quakers Lane, who owns it and who doesn't and other petty issues relevant to this town. I would like to see Haverhill move at a cracking pace similar to the building going on near Cambridge rail station, but on a smaller scale.

In fact I would prefer it if Haverhill was in Cambridgeshire. I'm sure we would get more from our council tax and not everything go to Bury St Edmunds, the town and local government that seems to be sucking all the life blood out of us. As for the Great Wisley Park development, probably just another excuse for more houses with a fancy name. Cllr Jeremy Farthing hit the nail on the head when he spoke about lack of infrastructure, sewage, drainage and the roads. I'm with you, it won't happen in your lifetime – perhaps Haverhill Vision should be 2131.

Anyway, getting back to the present, how will the police cope now that their budget has been cut? I suppose the PCSOs will be running around in the brave attempt that they can fool the general public into thinking that everything is fine.

Anglian Water say they can cope. To me that reads no improvements, just muddle through. We've been doing that for the last 50-plus years.

The roads – look for yourself, eyes don't lie, the only one fit for purpose is the A1307 "Road of Death".

All the others, to Bury St Edmunds, Colchester, Sudbury: had it, finished, out-of-date, call it what you like.

Both bypasses should have been built at the same time. The one we have in its present form should have gone right through to Colchester. I know that Sainsbury's put money into the bypass, if they hadn't would it have been built? Makes you wonder.

If we look at Haverhill 2015 what we have is really just a very large housing estate with the outlook of more and more houses. How big does it have to get to get the ball rolling for the proper infrastructure to kick in? I've heard that it is 30,000.

What will happen then? The people of Haverhill need to know – do they start to lay down roots here, or move on?

I will tell you, it's as clear as the nose on your face. Until the iron horse returns, that thing that runs on rails, the mode of transport that connects it all up like the arteries of the human body, Haverhill will go nowhere. Why would any major High Street player want to come here? They will go elsewhere where they can see a town moving forward into the 21st century and beyond, that has a proper rail link to the rest of the country. A town fit for... I'll leave that up to you to decide, but don't wait too long, you have been warned.

What a night!

Wow! One thousand-eight hundred women in pyjamas and flashing bunny ears walking round Bury St Edmunds – what an amazing sight! Thank you to each and every one who took part in Girls Night Out on Saturday – particularly those who travelled to Bury from the Haverhill area – and who have pledged an incredible, record-breaking £160,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The moonlight walk would not be possible without the help of a great many people and organisations, to whom I would like to say a massive thank you. Special thanks goes to Redbourn Engineering, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, our local community police team, Asda, Tesco, Heart FM, Bury St Edmunds Rugby Club, CEG Productions, RAF Honington and USAF Lakenheath. Thank you also to all the entertainers, marshalls and volunteers on the night: Cam Brown, the Haverhill Harlots, the Glenmoriston Pipe Band, Max Lloyd, all the water boys, the local Rotary and Round Table clubs, Stowmarket Lions and especially Peter Smith and Fred Fayers, West Suffolk Wheelers cycling club, RAF Honington and USAF Lakenheath. Thank you also to all the 250 marshalls and the many members of the public who were so supportive and encouraged the 3,600 weary feet.

If you missed it this year, we'll be doing it again on 10 September 2016! We hope to see you there.

DEVELOPMENT

Villagers' bid to halt homes plan

A COMMUNITY group is urging residents to come out in force at a council meeting to object to a development they say is "unsustainable".

The Kedington Action Group was formed after its members, who live in the village, were informed of the scale of the 2,500-home Great Wilsey Park development in north east Haverhill. Much of the proposed development site lies in Kedington and Little Wratting parishes, rather than Haverhill itself.

The development's masterplan was approved by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet last week, and will go before the borough's full council on Tuesday, September 22. If the full council approve it then it will become an official "planning guidance" document.

The Kedington Action Group have objections based on the initial consultation procedure for the development, and on whether the infrastructure will be sufficient to support the influx of residents.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Kevin Betts, one of the co-founders of the action group, said: "What seems to be happening is they are increasing the size of Haverhill to serve Cambridge as a commuter town. We have already identified with our local MP that businesses are reluctant to come to Haverhill because of the poor transport links. Yet the developments, if you add them all together, I believe they are something in excess of 4,000 homes.

"The most popular employment in Haverhill is in Cambridge, so it will see a huge increase in traffic along the A1307, which is already choked, especially at Linton."

He argues that money should be put towards developing business in Haverhill, not homes.

He also says that the initial consultation was too focused on Haverhill, meaning that outlying villages which will be affected were not properly informed.

Now, the group is calling for residents to attend the full council meeting.

Mr Betts said: "The meeting really is the most crucial thing at the moment. If they rubber stamp the scheme on Tuesday then the likelihood is it will go ahead. If we have a case, if we have enough people saying 'Hold on', we could make a change, we could get them to put caveats in."

The full council meeting will take place on Tuesday at 7pm in West Suffolk House, Bury St Edmunds.

Channel challenge for Academy students

A GROUP of 12 and 13-year-olds have swum the English Channel – at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

Twenty-three Samuel Ward Academy students are taking part in a 10-week challenge for Children in Need.

The students set out to swim a combined distance of 22 miles, the distance between Dover and Calais.

After two weeks they have swum this distance, and plan to swim as far as possible by Children in Need day on November 13.

To donate, send a cheque made payable to Samuel Ward Academy to Wendy Jeffrey, Children in Need Swim Challenge, Samuel Ward Academy, Chalkstone Way, Haverhill CB9 0LD.

EMPLOYMENT

JOBS FAIR: Matthew Hancock with representatives from local organisations at the event

MP holds jobs fair – and searches for an apprentice

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL'S MP hosted a jobs fair on Friday to help local young people find opportunities – and now he's looking for an apprentice himself.

Matthew Hancock's jobs fair took place at the Haverhill Arts Centre. Over 20 businesses attended, with hundreds of job and apprenticeship opportunities available.

This was the fourth time the event, which also included seminars on topics such as how to create the perfect CV, has been held.

Speaking after the Jobs Fair, Mr Hancock said: "I am absolutely thrilled at the great success of today's Jobs and Apprenticeships Fair. It has been fantastic to see so many people and exhibitors here. I am very grateful to everyone who has supported the event, especially the Jobs Centre, which does very important work supporting unemployed people locally.

"Haverhill is a fantastic place to live and work. While it is good that unemployment levels are low here, I will continue to do all

I can to help those who want to work to do so."

Now the MP is looking to give one young person an opportunity by hiring an apprentice of his own.

The successful apprentice will carry out administrative duties in Mr Hancock's Westminster office, as well as undertaking research, managing social media and assisting with campaigns.

Applicants should have GCSE Maths and English at grades A* to C and "a keen interest in politics".

Mr Hancock said: "This year, as well as organising the jobs fair I was also a participant, as I was advertising for a new Parliamentary Apprentice in my Westminster office. I have had an apprentice in my office for four years now. My apprentice is an essential part of the team and it is a fantastic opportunity for someone who is committed, hard working and has an interest in politics."

Sarah Howard, chair of ONE Haverhill, which runs youth skills projects in the town, said: "Matt's current apprentice ran the jobs fair last week and did a fantastic job, this is an amazing opportunity for a young person to have access to a role very few do. I hope to see some local young people apply."

To find out more about the role, visit parliamentaryacademy.com/parliamentary-apprenticeship-with-matthew-hancock-mp/.

The closing date for applications is September 25, and interviews will take place on October 1 for an October 5 start to the apprenticeship.

Young people thinking of applying but looking for advice and support can contact ONE Haverhill's Youth Skills Manager Karen Chapple at karen.chapple@onehaverhill.co.uk.

Fresh lick of paint for farm shop

A FAMILY-RUN business has had a fresh lick of paint thanks to a new council scheme.

Clare Farm Shop in Clare's Market Hill has benefited from St Edmundsbury Borough Council's new shop front painting scheme.

The scheme is only open to independent businesses and allows them to claim back up to 75 per cent of the cost of repainting their shop front.

The maximum grant available is £500.

For more information contact Natasha Brockett on 01638 719285 or email natasha.brockett@westsuffolk.gov.uk

Borough launches town council review

THE borough council is launching a review of town and parish council boundaries in an effort to make sure they reflect the local community.

The main focus of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Community Governance Review will be to determine whether the boundaries of town and parish councils need to be redrawn in light of growth around Bury St Edmunds and Haverhill.

The borough will consult partner organisations, electors and businesses about the issues, and set up an online questionnaire. The first round of consultation runs until November 9.

For more information, including how to take part, visit www.westsuffolk.gov.uk/community/cgr.cfm.

HISTORY

Oral historians need your help

AN exciting new project is aiming to create a portrait of working life in Haverhill from 1950 to the present day – and they need your help.

The Haverhill Local History Group is hoping to create an oral history portrait about what life was like for employees in the town over the last 65 years, with a particular focus on the transformation of the town in the 1960s and 70s.

They would like to speak to residents who were working in the town over the period – and to immortalise residents' words in an exhibition at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Brian Thompson, chairman of the Haverhill Local history group, said: "In those days, the sixties and seventies, a lot of the big companies in Haverhill used to have social clubs. I used to play cricket for one of the companies' clubs in Haverhill. People went to work, they socialised with the groups of people they used to work with. We are really trying to encourage those people to come along and engage."

The group will be holding an open meeting on September 24. After this they will hold open sessions for the employees of different organisations, where people who worked at the business are welcome to come along for tea and memory-sharing.

If there are people who are particularly keen to talk, the history group will then organise one-to-one sessions in which what they say is recorded.

Mr Thompson is hoping that the open sessions will be social occasions where old friends can be reunited.

The project has been made possible by a £2,000 grant from ONE Haverhill.

Sarah Howard, chair of ONE Haverhill, said: "It will be fascinating to see how working practices in Haverhill have changed over the last 65 years, and it's really good that we can support something like this."

The organisers are also looking for pictures to make up their display on "Haverhill in the Workplace" which will be put on at Haverhill Arts Centre in the autumn next year.

The initial open meeting about the project will take place at 7.30pm on Thursday, September 24 at the Old Independent Church Hall in Hamlet Road, Haverhill. All are welcome and anyone interested in knowing more can contact the family history group on 01440 712 651 or haverhillfhg@suffolkfhs.co.uk.

Sports day fun for charity members

THIRTY-FOUR members, carers and volunteers from a Haverhill charity attended a special needs sports day last week.

The 34th annual Joan Mann Special Sports Day was held at RAF Mildenhall on Saturday. Activities on the day including a basketball toss, obstacle course and 100m dash, and volunteers cooked hot dogs and burgers for lunch. At the end of the day, medals were given out and a commemorative cake was cut.

The committee of LAMP-H, a Haverhill adult support charity based in the town's Colne Valley Road, were able to fund their attendance using money raised at this year's Haverhill Summer Bash.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Exhibition celebrates peace organisations

AN exhibition is being held in honour of the organisations worldwide that work for peace and non-violence.

It is taking place at the Haverhill Arts Centre throughout September to mark the UN International Day of Peace on September 21.

The exhibition features colourful artwork from children in Years 5, 6 and 7 at the town's Castle Partnership schools.

Have you seen this Siamese cat in town?

A WOMAN is looking for help to track down her Siamese cat, which has been missing for more than a week.

The cat, pictured, is five years old and has been microchipped. Her owner, Lorraine Jamieson, 50, says she disappeared from her Haverhill home on Sunday, September 6.

If found, she should be returned to the Homefield Road Vet Surgery.

Pull on your jeans to help Lily and Willow

FAMILY: Michelle Bamber with daughters Lily and Willow

A MUM whose daughters both suffer from a rare genetic condition is urging people to get involved in Jeans for Genes day this Friday.

Lily Bamber, 6, and her 19-month-old sister Willow both suffer from Leigh's disease, which affects the way their cells produce energy.

Lily was diagnosed with the disease aged two and a half after struggling to learn to walk and having what doctors now think were "stroke-like episodes".

Her mum Michelle Bamber said: "We were totally gutted. I was worried for the future."

"You ask the question about life expectancy, and they don't answer the question."

"They say: 'It's going to be a very up and down road.' You google it and it says 'early childhood, five years old', and you think: 'What sort of life is my child going to have?'"

Lily's little sister Willow had just a one in four chance of being born with the same condition, but tests after she was born determined that she also has it.

Both the girls are doing well at the moment.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

Michelle said about Lily: "We always say she's 'healthily unhealthy': she seems OK with colds, she copes well."

But one bout of illness could have serious consequences, and Lily has had to be rushed to hospital before when she's been sick.

The family, who live in Haverhill's Meadowsweet Close, have been fundraising over the years for the Lily Foundation, an organisation working to fight mitochondrial disease.

Michelle has completed the London Marathon for the charity, and her husband Jamie has done a fundraising skydive.

The Lily Foundation is supported by Genes for Jeans, a foundation running a nationwide charity day this Friday, September 18. Lily's school, Clements Primary, will be among those leading the event.

FUNDRAISING: Dan and Sara with Bella

Picture: Richard Patterson

Family's fundraising battle continues

THE family of a young girl who suffers from a rare blood condition are continuing their fight to fundraise for the ward that helped her.

Sara and Dan Nicholls' daughter Bella, 2, suffers from a condition called neutropenia which means she doesn't have enough white blood cells. They set an original fundraising target of £1,000 – but have raised over twice that amount.

Next Friday, September 25, Dan is hoping to complete a charity run from the family's home in Haverhill to Addenbrooke's Hospital, where Bella was treated.

All sponsorship money and the £2,254.98 they have already raised will go towards the Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

County bids for devolution

SUFFOLK has presented a devolution bid to the government in the hopes of gaining more independence and power.

The bid has been put together and submitted by all eight Suffolk councils, working with the Local Enterprise Partnerships, Suffolk Police, and the Clinical Commissioning Groups.

They hope that devolving powers to Suffolk will deliver 70,000 new homes in the county by 2031, as well as 7,500 apprenticeships and a 65 per cent A* to C pass rate at GCSE.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "If we can get more from the government, then we can get more for local people, businesses and town councils, to improve the lives of people in West Suffolk. I believe we know better than people who are miles away what Suffolk needs."

The devolution proposals

HANNAH MIRSKY

are based around themes such as place, people and productivity.

The "place" proposals are focused on housing and transport. The councils want to have more control over money such as New Homes Bonus receipts so they don't have to depend on government grants, as well as having more control over transport funding and decision making. They hope to create a joined up "Suffolk Strategic Plan" for these areas.

The "people" proposals are about employment and care. The councils want responsibility for the Apprenticeship Grant and multi-year settlements with government on health, care and safety. They also hope to design a local employment service.

These overlap with the "productivity" proposals, related to the county's economy. These include aiming for 7,500 new apprenticeships by 2025 and freedom to establish the new employment service, which would deliver Universal Credit.

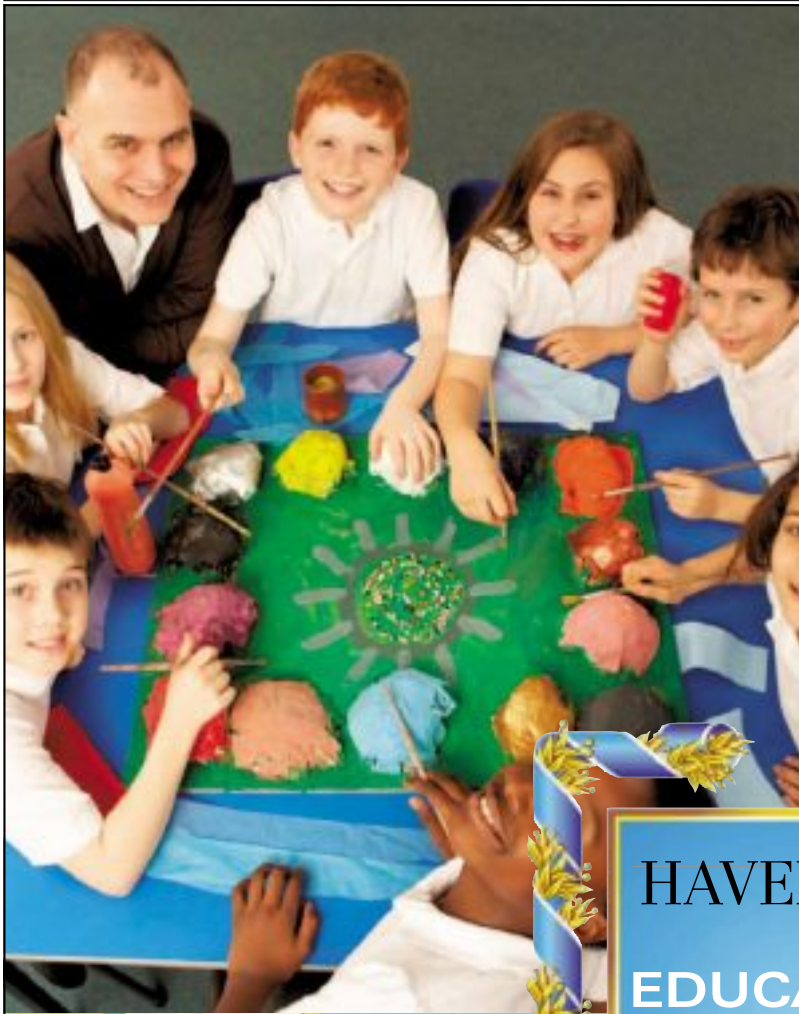

They want the local economy to support investment better and be less reliant on government grants.

The proposals will be supported by the Cities and Local Government Devolution Bill which is currently passing through Parliament.

It was submitted on September 4, in time that it may be included in the Chancellor's autumn statement.

Suffolk was one of 38 local authorities across the country to put in a devolution bid under the new legislation.

Although there is no fixed timescale for the proposed changes yet, the Suffolk public sector leaders will be working closely together over the coming weeks.

INDIVIDUALS: Exceptional progress is a key focus area for Samuel Ward Academy and staff work towards that building confidence

Building confidence and responsibility

SAMUEL Ward Academy is an outstanding academy (Ofsted 2008, 2012), a national teaching school and one of the highest performing schools in Suffolk. It places value on every individual, aims to build confidence and responsibility in learners and has a proven track record of academic success. Samuel Ward is part of the Samuel Ward Academy Trust, a partnership of schools located on the Suffolk, Cambridge and Essex borders that aims to ensure that young people in the area are provided with an outstanding education.

Pupils at Samuel Ward make outstanding progress because:

1. It knows that making the transition from primary to secondary school can be daunting, and needs to be tailored for each individual. The best way of overcoming uncertainty is to make your child feel safe and secure as quickly as possible. That is why Years 7 & 8 have their own purpose built accommodation, a hub from which they can access the excellent facilities elsewhere in the school.
2. It believes that pupils thrive when they are in small groups and have a strong sense of belonging. For that reason, all pupils are part of a House system, coaching groups are no more than 15 in size and every individual is provided with a learning mentor.

3. The focus is on ensuring that every individual make exceptional progress, whatever their starting point. Samuel Ward diagnoses the needs of each pupil, works with other agencies to ensure that they have the necessary support to help them to achieve ambitious and challenging goals. The curriculum is broad, balanced and offers pathways for pupils with all manner of interests and skills, including those that want the challenge of separate sciences, critical thinking and philosophy.

4. It believes that confidence and a sense of responsibility are essential attributes for success. Students take part in a raft of leadership opportunities, as well as building their confidence through trying out over 60 new activities in the innovative Enrichment programme. Many work with pupils in other schools, supporting their learning.

5. The Academy has a strong ethos built around high expectations, positive relationships and a strong set of moral values. Pupils are taught the attributes of good character in a small meeting with their learning coach every morning, enabling pupils to make sense of the world around them, creating a sense of community and engendering resilience, respect and responsibility.

6. The Academy has strong links with European countries and international status, meaning that pupils have the opportunity to broaden their experiences in preparation for sixth form and university.

7. As a nationally accredited Teaching School, the focus is on ensuring that our teachers deliver an outstanding education. As a result, staff are engaged with research, engage with on-going professional development and benefit from a rigorous system of quality assurance.

Samuel Ward's Open Evening is on 1st October at 6.30pm. Alternatively, if you would like to visit the school during the day, contact Mrs Merch-Chammon on mmerchammon@samuelward.co.uk or (01440) 760333.

Flexible, freeflowing and above all – fun

OWNERS Hayley Peacock and Dawn Edwards are excited to be celebrating Lilypads Day Nursery and Pre-school's third year of trading this year, which has seen the nursery going from strength to strength.

Hayley and Dawn put much of their success down to great word of mouth, with satisfied Haverhill parents recommending their services to others. So much so that the nursery is now has only a few 0-2 spaces available with a total of 85 families on their books. Lilypads' main focus is for babies and pre-school children (along with popular holiday and after-school clubs for older kids), and they pride themselves on offering flexibility in their hours for parents who, these days, often are not able to just work from 9 to 5.

With a great and enriching selection of activities available, the nursery follows the national Early Years Foundation Stage curriculum, and all of the children have access to the wonderful spacious outdoor play area, as well as great facilities inside.

For younger children, freeflow play and sensory activities, language and singing are the order of the day, while for the pre-schoolers, the focus turns to preparation for those important first school days, with a range of number work, name writing, mark making and more. If this sounds perfect for your child don't despair! More spaces at the nursery will be coming available in summer as many of their children start school this September. Find out more about Lilypads Day Nursery on their website at lilypadsnursery.co.uk, or their active Facebook page, with regular updates of pictures and information; or why not give them a ring on (01440) 767805, or just pop in! HOME LIFE: Blois Meadow Day Nursery is all about creating an extension of home life

Family run in a village location

// ONE of the best nurseries in the country, right here on your doorstep." That's what people are saying about Blois Meadow Day Nursery in Steeple Bumpstead.

Based in a peaceful countryside setting, but just five minutes from the centre of Haverhill, Blois Meadow is a, family-run nursery with an atmosphere very different from that of the large 'out of town shopping centre' setting. Owned and managed by experienced local teacher Alison Midgley, the nursery was judged 'outstanding' by Ofsted in 2013 and, last year, was one of five finalists for the UK's 'Nursery of the Year' award.

"The nursery is clean, continually being updated with new ideas and play things. The atmosphere is fun and friendly and you feel like you are leaving your children in the care of close friends," says local GP Emma Fryer, whose twin daughters have just left Blois Meadows to start school. "We work hard to make the nursery an extension of home, not just somewhere to drop off your children," says Alison Midgley. "We are large enough to be thoroughly professional, but small enough to get to know all our children and parents and really work together to provide care and early education linked to play."

The nursery is open from 7am till 7pm on weekdays throughout the year. It has places for 55 children of all ages, from a few months right up to school age, and offers free funded places for children of three and four, as well as some two year olds. Staff are highly qualified and the nursery also develops younger practitioners through its own City & Guilds apprenticeship scheme. "Because the nursery is tucked away in a peaceful village, it's not highly visible," says Alison Midgley. "But the secret is spreading and we are now close to full on most days of the week."

The nursery is currently offering two weeks free for any child registered before the end of September. Information about facilities, fees and parent views can be found on bloismeadowdaynursery.com or by phoning (01440) 730520.

Dizzy Ducks Day Nursery

Making a real positive impact on children's lives

Many of us have great childhood memories of playing outdoors, running around, climbing trees, building dens, making mud pies and inventing new games that kept us occupied for hours – these are all things that contribute to a happy, healthy upbringing.

The chance to connect with the natural world; first hand experiences of life and growth; endless opportunities for creativity and imagination; improved fitness and physical development – the countless benefits of outdoor play have a real positive impact on children's lives.

Spending a lot of time outside whatever the weather makes a significant contribution to the progress they make particularly in their personal, emotional, social and physical development.

At Dizzy Ducks the staff believe in the benefits of fresh air and physical activity every day. It has created a safe free flow play environment in our Preschool rooms, which offers children the choice to have uninterrupted play experiences inside and out. There are some fantastic loose resources in all the gardens which the children have access to including old tyres, crates, pots and pans, fir cones pebbles, shells, bark chippings for endless imaginative play.

The outdoors are full of open-ended resources that stimulate children's imaginations. Allow children to test and stretch themselves. Small risks are an essential part of play, which often means mastering new tasks or conquering fears. The key is knowing the risks involved and balancing them with all the benefits and rewards of playing outdoors.

Exciting News: Dizzy Ducks newly renovated preschool garden will opening on 1st October 2015!

COLOURBOX MONTESSORI

Excited about life, excited about learning

COLOURBOX Montessori Nursery welcomes children to its newly built nursery this month.

There is already a flourishing and 'outstanding' rated Montessori nursery school in Newmarket, which is accredited by the Montessori Evaluation and Accreditation Board and, building on this success, Colourbox has opened a second nursery at the Haverhill Research Park.

This 76 place, brand new nursery offers places to children from three months to five years of age, on either a full or part-time basis.

The Colourbox ethos is to encourage the natural curiosity that every baby and pre-school child has and which empowers them to embrace life positively, with eagerness and confidence.

It offers a contemporary Montessori approach to life and learning, with activities and surroundings suitable for each child's age and stage of development.

Knowledgeable and highly trained staff will encourage your child's love of learning and help them develop an understanding of their environment and the need for respect and care for others. A peaceful, safe and secure environment gives a 'home from home' feel for your child who will be looked after by their own key person and room staff, with meals prepared by an in-house cook. High staff/child ratios are instrumental to Colourbox's success.

KNOWLEDGE: Highly trained staff will encourage learning

To find out more, take a look at colourboxmontessori.co.uk or contact 07506 739992. Also visit the on one of the open evenings throughout September and see the nursery for yourself.

CAMBRIDGE-based Break An Egg Theatre Company are celebrating the 125th anniversary of the birth of crime queen Agatha Christie with a twist on the classic whodunnit – the whodidn't do it!

Murder At A Funeral is an originally written comedy pastiche of the classic Agatha Christie murder mystery. Set in 1930's London, wealthy spinster Lady Cora Flange is dead. At her wake, six mourners arrive to pay their final respects and hear the reading of her will. Her housekeeper, her nephew, her personal trainer, her lover, her agent and her doctor each expect to inherit her vast fortune. The growing tension escalates as Inspector Trout of Scotland Yard arrives and the reading of the will confirms suspicions that one of the 'mourners' murdered her! As events unfold, it becomes apparent that in fact, all tried to murder her – but which one actually did the deed?

"We wanted to mark the 125th anniversary of Agatha Christie's birth as we're all big Christie fans, and we're doing it in the usual Break An Egg style, with a full-on farcical comedy play complete with some comedy songs," explains company director Nick Timmings.

"Murder At A Funeral uses the classic crime novel set-up but with some wickedly funny and farcical twists."

Magnifying glass at the ready!

Murder at a Funeral, ADC Theatre, runs until Saturday at 7.45pm. Tickets cost £9-£12 from (01223) 300085 / adctheatre.com

OPEN WEEKEND

● NEWMARKET'S stable doors will be open this weekend, Saturday, September 19 and Sunday 20.

This is the third year Newmarket has opened its doors to the public for an annual event which raises funds for local charities. This year, for the first time, the event will take place over two days and will offer a range of fantastic activities and entertainment for all the family. There will be a host of new events such as the Food and Drink Festival which will be at Newmarket's Rowley Mile and takes place over the two days. The Betfair Newmarket Open Weekend kicks off on Saturday at 9.30am with a chance to see top class racehorses put through their paces on Warren Hill Gallops. There will be a number of equine sites available to visit throughout the day, including Tattersalls, The National Stud and Newmarket Equine Hospital. The Rowley Mile will then host a race meeting in the afternoon.

On Sunday, from 9am to 12:30pm, many top trainers will be opening their yards, giving visitors a unique chance to catch a glimpse of their equine heroes and meet the trainers.

In the afternoon, there's plenty on offer at the Rowley Mile. Racing Personality Show Jumping is the feature entertainment of the day, with some of Newmarket's best loved trainers and jockeys competing.

The Gymkhana will also take place on Sunday afternoon, plus free course entertainment including face painting and pony rides.

● Visit newmarketopenweekend.co.uk or search Newmarket Open Weekend on Facebook.

THEATRE

Tony and Mike, Cambridge Junction, Sunday, September 20 at 11.30am and 2.30pm. Tickets £6-£10 from (01223) 511511 / junction.co.uk.

It's that tale of two mice...

INSPIRED by the much-loved Aesop's fable, The Tale of the Town Mouse and the Country Mouse, this super-fun – but with a very important message(!) – new show from Fringe First Award winners Tom Frankland and Laura Mugridge is sure to delight big and little ones alike.

It tells the story of Tony, an owl who likes his peace and quiet, and Mike, a loud, cheeky, party-loving squirrel (the best kind of squirrels, we reckon) who doesn't.

Featuring amazing puppetry, music and a squirrel flying machine (come on, what more could you ask for?), it's all about making friends, being different and why that's OK.

Make sure you turn up early; there's a free drop-in arts and craft session before the show in the Cambridge Junction foyer, which will be led by a professional visual artist and is themed to tie in with Tony and Mike. Paintbrush at the ready!

Costume is optional for this live broadcast from the West End of THE ROCKY HORROR SHOW on Thursday 17 September at 6.45pm. Get ready for a night of fun, frolics and frivolity with Frank N Furter, Riff Raff, Magenta and all the rest in this thrilling stage production of the cult favourite. The show is bursting at the seams with timeless classics, with Richard O'Brien as the Narrator and special guests, Stephen Fry, Emma Bunton and Mel Giedroyc.

■ Join us for a tribute to Virginia Patterson Hensley, who is sometimes better known as PATSY CLINE – AND FRIENDS on Friday 18 September at 7.30pm. Sue Lowry, with her powerful rendition of Sweet Dreams and Crazy, will take you back to those Honky Tonk days of pure Country Music. Songs include Back In Baby's Arms, She's Got You and Got A Lot Of Rhythm in My Soul. The evening also includes guest tributes to Jim Reeves and Hank Williams.

■ THE COUNTERFEIT SIXTIES return to the Arts Centre on Saturday 19 September at 7.30pm with a new show. Take a large helping of the best pop music ever recorded, toss in four musicians playing 100% live, and add a light show and sound system that Pink Floyd would envy. Stir in a gen-

■ Monkey Nuts Comedy Club is back on Sunday 20 September at 8.00pm. There'll be laughs, snorts and guffaws a plenty as Nathan Caton, Jamali Maddix and Elis James take to the stage. Nathan and Elis have both had their own TV shows and Jamali has been lauded for his funniness all over the place so it should be good! Please note the line-up is subject to change.

■ On the Thursday 24 September at 7.00pm we have a recorded broadcast of Coriolanus with Tom Hiddleston in the title role and on Friday 25 September we welcome back the talented Hannah Horton Quartet for the All That Jazz Club. The snare drum starts snoring at 8.00pm.

■ On the cinema front we have Gemma Boveri (15). First it was a tome of classic French literature, then it became a comic book by Posy Simmonds and now it is a film starring Gemma Arterton. A long journey but the general idea is the same: Gemma/Emma has multiple affairs to escape the banalities of life. She really should have channelled her energies into something productive, improving her Scrabble score for instance – though this possibly may not have made quite so entertaining a film! Come and see Gemma and her lovers on Monday 21 September at 1.30pm and Wednesday 22 September at 7.30pm.

■ Also on Monday 21 September we have Salt of the Earth. Sebastiao Salgado has produced some of the most iconic images of the 20th Century, documenting shocking images of war as well as the globe's natural beauty. This film, starting at 7.30pm, is a homage to Salgado's work and is in English, French and Portuguese so expect some subtitles.

■ Events to look out for include a Psychic and Holistic Day on Saturday 26 September and a screening of Roger Waters, The Wall on Thursday 29 September

Haverhill based estate agents CXG have given us an industry professionals insight, providing their top 3 tips they give to first time buyers that come to them. Buying a property can be very daunting, especially your first, but if you make sure that you have these areas covered you will be well on your way to making the process a whole lot easier!

DON'T OVER LOOK ADDITIONAL COSTS

Always remember that when it comes to working out how much you can afford to spend when buying your first home the property value is not the only cost.

From solicitors to surveys the number of additional costs can soon stack up so make sure you include these in your budget when starting out, this way you will avoid any nasty surprises down the line.

KEY ADVICE FOR FIRST TIME BUYERS

So, you've scrimped and saved. You've possibly moved back home with your parents to do so (thanks, folks!). You've cut down, budgeted, spent as little as possible and put all your pennies into your savings account for what probably feels like FOREVER, and now you're – finally – ready to buy your first home. Congratulations!

Although what is about to follow is, undoubtedly, the fun bit, there are still a few things that you need to be aware of along the way. Follow these tips and you should soon be putting your feet up and enjoying your very own property...

BE REALISTIC Budgeting is key. Before you start your property search, sit down and make an honest no-holds-barred appraisal of your finances. What size of mortgage can you get? What level of repayment can you afford? How big is your deposit? Use all of these to come up with your absolute maximum property price. Write this down somewhere and stick to it – it is all too easy to get carried away when you see a property that you love, and end up making an offer over your limit, in a bid to secure it.

LOCATION LOCATION LOCATION

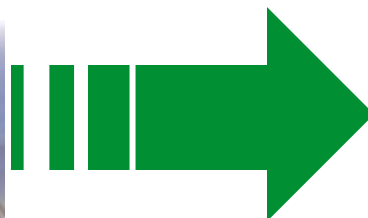

If you can't compromise on price, you might be able to compromise on location. Get a map and plot out the outer limits of the area that you would be prepared to live in. Limit your search to those areas.

DREAM HOME With your budget and location now decided, it's time to take a look at what kind of property your money will buy. If you have an absolute requirement for a certain number of bedrooms, reception rooms or outside space, then keep these in mind when searching. If you can be flexible – all the better!

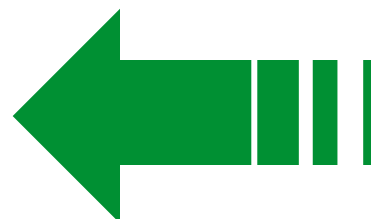

Remember, as a first-time buyer, with no complicated property 'chain' dragging behind you, you are a very attractive proposition for vendors. Don't be afraid to use this to your advantage in negotiations – especially if the vendor is keen for a quick and hassle-free sale. View as many properties as you can, until you are certain that you've found The One for you. Enjoy the process, and good luck!

WILL THE PROPERTY NEED WORK?

You have chosen your new home! But ask yourself, does it need immediate work? This can sometimes be the deciding factor to whether the property is affordable to you or not. What starts as a minor job can often escalate into major works causing you real problems with living comfortably in your new home – make sure you do all your homework on the property and have some spare cash saved to maintain any issues that may arise from day one!

DON'T LET YOUR HEART RULE YOUR HEAD

Probably our most important point of all. Only view what you can afford.

There is no point in falling in love with a property that is out of your financial reach or that will leave you skint! Doing this will only leave you with a crisis later on and make something that should be exciting a stressful situation.

RANGE: Better than ever before

More miles for your battery charge

NISSAN is once again transforming the performance, practicality and perception of EVs with the introduction of the LEAF 30 kWh – an updated Nissan LEAF that gives drivers 155 miles of motoring range, beating all of its competitors in the segment.

This achievement – one that opens up a new world of opportunity for drivers – is made possible thanks to the introduction of a new 30kWh battery.

The new battery is the highlight of an update package that will see the 2016MY LEAF 30 kWh reinforce its position as the most capable and practical electric vehicle in the world, and with the best value.

The longer range significantly broadens the LEAF's appeal – making it a true alternative to an internal combustion engine.

Vauxhall reveal Brit-built Astra

VAUXHALL'S all-new Astra Sports Tourer is to make its debut at the 2015 Frankfurt Motor Show on September 17-27.

Like its five-door hatch sibling, the Sports Tourer is based on an all-new lightweight vehicle architecture with a new design, powertrains and technology. It is built at Vauxhall's Ellesmere Port manufacturing plant in Cheshire.

Just like the five-door hatch, the Sports Tourer takes Vauxhall's design philosophy 'Sculptural Artistry meets Technical Precision' to the next level.

The Sports Tourer further extends the dynamic lines of the five-door. The slightly arched sloping roofline gives the Sports Tourer a longer appearance – an effect that is further enhanced by the divided C-pillar. The rear view combines high functionality with elegant design and the divided rear light clusters add to this impression.

For the first time on a Vauxhall, the tailgate can be opened without a touch or a remote control. In combination with 'Keyless Entry and Start' a simple small kicking motion under the rear bumper is enough to open the tailgate. A further kicking motion under the bumper will close the tailgate. The clever system can detect any obstruction and stops the mechanism in case of an emergency. The tailgate can still be opened by a switch on the driver's side of the car or via the key's remote control.

The powertrain portfolio features petrol and diesel units ranging from 100PS to 200PS, including an all-new 1.4-litre (150PS) ECOTEC Direct Injection Turbo and the recently-launched 1.6-litre CDTi Whisper Diesel. The 200PS version of the 1.6-litre ECOTEC petrol will celebrate its world premiere at Frankfurt.

RAC celebrates Le Mans victory

ICONS: Derek Bell with the Porsche

THE Royal Automobile Club played host to a very special event on Wednesday, when five-time Le Mans winner and double World Sportscar Champion, Derek Bell MBE, drove the iconic Rothmans Porsche 956-001 up the Captain's Drive at the Club's Woodcote Park clubhouse to commemorate 40 years since his first Le Mans victory.

Derek was reunited with the famous Group C Works Rothmans Porsche 956-001 which is considered to be the most important Porsche in its history – being the first monocoque race car built. The 956 made its debut in 1982 at the Silverstone Six Hour race with Derek Bell and Jackie Ickx behind the wheel, in what was effectively a development run for the new car. After missing the next round, the duo reappeared at the 24 Hours of Le Mans and led the race for the entire 24 hours before taking the chequered flag and a remarkable victory.

ROAD TEST

Honda Civic Type-R

THE Honda Civic Type R returns, this time with 310PS beneath the bonnet thanks to forced induction, writes Andy Enright. Drive goes to the front wheels via a six-speed manual 'box, so no change there, but under the skin, this thing's rammed with trick bits. It looks the real deal.

The headline figures are undeniably impressive. Power comes courtesy of a direct-injected turbocharged 2.0 litre VTEC petrol engine, which really delivers a solid punch of both power and torque. Peak power output is 310PS at 6,500rpm, and peak torque is 400Nm at 2,500rpm. If you still associate hot Hondas with having no torque, it's time to recalibrate. Red-lining at 7,000rpm, the turbocharged four-cylinder engine catapults the Civic to 62mph in 5.7 seconds, which is extremely brisk for a front-wheel drive car. As indeed is the top speed of 167mph. A short-throw six-speed manual transmission will satisfy the purists and the car is equipped with a Brembo brake package, with 350mm drilled discs up front.

A four-point Adaptive Damper System has been developed and an advanced Dual Axis Strut Front Suspension system helps to reduce torque steer by 50 per cent. At the rear, the Type R's H-shaped torsion beam suspension (which caused so much grumbling when the company abandoned a multi-link rear end) is further refined. Rear roll rigidity improves by 180 per cent. There's also a '+R' button that, when activated, heightens engine responsiveness and alters the torque-mapping to a more aggressive and performance-focused setting. The electric power steering receives reduced power assistance and the damping force is increased by 30 per cent. It's like Honda's take on BMW's M Button. That 7m50s Nurburgring lap time? Although it was achieved with a pre-production spec car, Honda reckons it can go even faster with a production Type R. That's faster than a 996-generation Porsche 911 GT3!

The Type R really amps up the otherwise slightly muted styling of the ninth-generation Civic. Honda's insistent that it's all functional and talks of the hours on the Nurburgring, being thrashed round the Takasu test track and forensic studies of the aerodynamics in the Sakura wind tunnel. A new, almost completely flat underside sucks the car onto the road and the rear wing, front splitter and deep side skirts are also demonstrably functional. Big grilles in the bumpers direct cooling air to the engine and brakes. The lightweight 19-inch alloy wheels look pretty mean with their 34-series rubber. The signature colour scheme is Championship White, but the Civic's also offered in pearlescent Crystal Black, metallic Polished Metal, metallic Brilliant Sporty Blue and Milano Red.

The cabin gets the trademark machined-alloy Type R gear lever. High-backed sports seats grip the front occupants with a suede-effect fabric offset by red double stitching. The red highlights continue across the leather-trimmed steering wheel and gearstick gaiter.

There's a lot of competition in this market sector. The Audi S3, Volkswagen Golf R and Ford Focus RS offer all-wheel drive grip and sledgehammer acceleration off the line, while the BMW M135i delivers rear-wheel drive handling beloved by purists. So where does that leave the front-wheel drive Civic Type R? It suddenly looks a bit conspicuous. Honda is a company that insists we judge on results rather than on engineering dogma. It has a point. Drive an old front-wheel drive Integra Type R against, say, a rear-wheel drive BMW E36 M3 from the same era and the Japanese car will always feel like the more exotic, exciting drive.

The latest Civic Type R makes a whole lot of impressive numbers but the acid test will come against its most talented European rivals. Something tells us that this British-built Honda will manage to inveigle itself into its own niche and feel quite unlike the rest of the field. Type Rs have always been something different, something very special and this one promises to be no different, turbo or otherwise.

Walker pair and Adams take team trophy win

Golf

DENISE Walker, Jim Walker and Len Adams were the winners when Haverhill held the Peggy McGhee Memorial Trophy.

Held in honour of the club's 1997 lady captain and sponsored by her daughter Fiona, the competition saw 33 members taking part and teams of three playing off a full handicap, with all scores to count.

The Walkers and Adams scored 105 points to take victory, with the Bradnam family of Jenni, Colin and Ben one behind in second.

Gill Richardson, Alistair Cocks and Geoff Bush were third on 103.

Sally Price won the ladies' midweek LGU Pendant with a round of nett 73, finishing two clear of Jenni Bradnam, and Ann Thompson was third with 77.

The Saturday competition saw Pat Kennedy win with 74, edging out Lyn Fish by one. Gerry Wheatley was third on 77.

However, Price won the LGU Pendant for combined scores over both competitions by one shot.

Andrew Cornish carded nett 65 to take victory on countback from Steven French in the men's midweek medal.

Cornish beat French to win Division Two as well, with Stuart Haworth third on countback on 67.

Division One honours went to Terry Lyons after a round of 68, beating

Michael Bennett on countback, and Darren Lyons took third.

Geoff Dorkins won Division Three, scoring 70. Duncan Watson was two shots back in second and Andrew Howard was third. Haverhill's men lost eight down in their friendly match with The Suffolk, played under Hambro Cup rules, with the return leg at Haverhill on September 26.

Alleyne on target as Rovers are held

TY ALLEYNE was on target as Haverhill Rovers drew 1-1 at home to Whitton United in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Rovers started the game strongly as their front three of Alleyne, Ryan Weaver and Owen Longley caused the visitors problems with their pace in behind.

The hosts forced a number of early corners before the Whitton keeper did well to tip over a Martyn Farrant header.

At the other end, Alex Archer

was called into action, saving a powerful shot.

Whitton looked dangerous from set pieces and Rovers player-manager Michael Shinn then tested their goalkeeper with a powerful free kick.

This set up a period of Rovers pressure that saw a number of dangerous balls played into the visitors box, but the home attack were unable to apply a final touch.

The deadlock was finally broken when a good through ball saw Alleyne get the better of the home defence and round the keeper to slot home for a half-time lead.

Whitton started the second half in a more determined mood and this bright start to the second half soon saw them draw level when Rovers were guilty of standing off Reece Ingram, who shot into the top corner giving Archer no chance.

The game was wide open after this as both teams pushed for the win.

Whitton hit the woodwork and although Rovers finished the game strongly, they were unable to find a clear breakthrough resulting in a share of the spoils.

Rovers are back in action on Saturday when they host Swaffham Town.

Haverhill Borough resume their campaign at Ely in the First Division on Saturday (6pm).
